

Questions you may have about Transition planning...

What is transition planning?

It is a plan that will give us a list of things to do to reach your goals when you graduate from school.

Who will help me?

Your teacher, family and planning agency will help you create goals. The school and planning agency will write down your goals and give you a copy.

What will happen next?

The school and the planning agency will schedule a time for all of us to meet.

Who will participate in my plan?

You can participate as much as you like in your plan. You can also invite the people that support you.

As we plan, you will continue to be supported by the people that support you at home and at school until you graduate.

What can I do after I graduate?

We will provide you with information on:

- places to work or volunteer,
- social and recreational activities,
- places to live, and
- day programs
